

THE TIMES OF INDIA

NEWSMAKERS

Netanyahu stresses Arab peace initiative must be rewritten

Israeli PM Benjamin Netanyahu has said the Arab peace initiative with Palestinians must be changed before Israel can support it. The Arab proposal calls for Israel to withdraw from the occupied territories in exchange for normalised relations with Arab nations. M

Photo: Reuters

Sri Lanka's future lies on good international ties: Sirisena

Sri Lanka's well-being lies on good relations with all countries and reconciliation with Tamils based on good governance, President Maithripala Sirisena has said. Sirisena, in contrast to his predecessor Mahinda Rajapaksa, has followed a policy of engagement with all nations. M

It is an irony that India, which houses every sixth citizen of the Earth, which is the hub of development, has no place in the permanent membership of the UNSC. We are asking for radical reforms in the international architecture, in the administrative structures, in the financial architectures - World Bank, IMF, WTO and UNSC. P

Education most important after food, clothing, shelter: Amitabh

Actor Amitabh Bachchan says education is the fourth most important need in a person's life as it cannot be reduced or stolen. "I believe that to raise awareness about education, it is essential to educate mothers and their daughters," he added. M

Bill Murray to receive top US comedy prize at Kennedy Center

The John F Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts announced that Murray, 65, will be this year's recipient of the Mark Twain Prize for American Humour. The award is presented to people who influence society in the tradition of Samuel Clemens, the writer, satirist and social commentator, better known as Mark Twain. M

COACH KI KHOJ: WHO WILL GET THE JOB?

BCCI has received 50-odd applications for the post of Team India's chief coach. Some names...

RAVIN SHASTRI: Former all-rounder; India's team director for the last 18 months. With him as director, the team reached the semi-finals of both the 50-over World Cup and World T20. Team was No. 1 in Tests briefly. However, his blunt talk has antagonised some in the board.

THE OTHER INDIAN CONTENDERS FOR THE JOB

PRAVIN AMRE: Delhi Daredevils' batting coach who has also mentored many Team India players

BALWINDER SINGH SANDHU: Has coached Mumbai to a Ranji Trophy win

SURESH BHAVDE: Played an important role in selecting the 2011 World Cup-winning India team

HRISHIKESH KANITKAR: Former middle-order batsman who led Rajasthan twice to Ranji wins

ANIL KUMBLE: Former leggie has mentored Mumbai Indians and RCB, currently ICC technical panel chairman. Captained India with dignity during the Monkeygate series in Australia. Highly respected.

SANDIP PATIL: Coached India-A besides helping Kenya reach semi-finals of 2003 World Cup. Has good ties with senior players.

FOREIGN COACHES

TOM MOODY: The Australian has coached Sri Lanka in the past, besides IPL teams such as Kings XI Punjab and Hyderabad Sunrisers

STUART LAW: The Australian achieved successes with Sussex and Bangladesh

DANIEL VETTORI: The head coach of RCB is said to be Test captain Virat Kohli's preferred choice

VIKRAM RATHOUR: The most approachable selector of the lot. A quiet operator, he has a good rapport with the players. But he is yet to handle something as big as a Team India assignment

VENKATESH PRASAD: Former fast bowler, keen to make coaching comeback. India bowling coach between 2007 & 2009.

VENKATESH PRASAD: Former fast bowler, keen to make coaching comeback. India bowling coach between 2007 & 2009.

BREXIT

Should India be worried?

On June 23, the British people will decide to 'leave' or 'remain' in the European Union (EU). A vote to leave the EU would start a long and complicated process that would result in a fundamental change in the UK's relationship with other members of the EU and the world. What will its impact on India be? We find out...

According to reports, Brexit is touted as the next big financial showdown post 2008 global economic crisis. Experts say if Brexit happens, Britain and Europe may form a European Economic Agreement

ALL ABOUT BREXIT

WHAT IS BREXIT?

1 It is an abbreviation for 'British exit', similar to the term 'Grexit' that was used for many years to refer to the possibility of Greece leaving the eurozone. Brexit refers to the possibility of Britain withdrawing from the European Union (EU).

WHY THE CALL FOR REFERENDUM?

2 When David Cameron became the PM of Britain in 2010, as head of a Conservative-Liberal Democrat coalition, he had to withstand pressure about a Europe vote from the pro-exit UK

The UK's referendum is making other countries in the Union ponder about their relationship with Brussels; there were calls in Germany for their own referendum; then 53% of the French indicated they were in favour of an in-out vote; Czech PM warned a Czexit could follow

Independence Party as well as restive eurosceptics in his own party. Finally, in 2013, he promised an in-out referendum on EU membership if the Conservatives won the 2015 election. He secured an absolute majority in 2015 and hence the referendum.

CURRENT STATUS OF BRITAIN AND EU

3 Although Britain is part of the 28-member EU, it has opted out of the EU's monetary union - it uses the pound instead of the euro. Also, it is out of the Schengen area and does not share open borders with other European nations. About 5% of people in Britain were born in other EU countries.

IMPACT ON INDIA

■ The UK is considered to be one of the most important investment destinations as it has access to the European market. If UK decides to leave, it will be bad news for India. ■ India has a substantial trading corridor with EU. Any material depreciation of the Euro/Pound could lead to increased headwinds for India in a sluggish export environment. ■ UK is the third largest source of FDI in India. ■ Indian companies operating in Europe, especially in UK could see some slowdown in business.

■ As per The Guardian, there are more than 800 Indian-owned businesses in the UK, with more than 110,000 employees. Brexit, could also endanger the flow of investment and personnel by diminishing Britain's role in providing access to Europe.

FACTOID

71%

Indians are non-vegetarians, according to a study by the Registrar General in India. The number fell by 4% from 2004, when non-vegetarians in the country stood at 75%

Jupiter-like planet orbiting two suns discovered

Scientists, using NASA's Kepler Space Telescope, have discovered a Jupiter-like planet orbiting a system of two stars, making it the largest such cosmic body ever found. The planet Kepler-1647b, located in the constellation Cygnus, was discovered by astronomers from NASA's Goddard Space Flight Centre and San Diego State University (SDSU) in the US. Kepler-1647 is 3,700 light-years away and about 4.4 billion years old, roughly the same age as Earth, researchers said. The stars are similar to the sun, with one slightly larger than our home star and the other slightly smaller. M

WHAT'S MAKING NEWS

New material may make nuclear fuel recycling cleaner, cheaper

Scientists, including one of Indian origin, have found a new material that may help recycle and reduce wastage of nuclear fuels as well as save energy making the reprocessing of radioactive material cleaner and less expensive. Conventional technologies to remove these radioactive gases operate at extremely low energy-intensive temperatures. By working at ambient temperature, the new material, known as metal-organic frameworks, can save energy, make reprocessing cleaner and less expensive. The reclaimed material can also be reused commercially. M

Hidden monument in Petra

A US archaeologist says satellite and drone images have led to a new discovery in the ancient city of Petra - a massive platform hidden under sand. Traders known as Nabataeans carved Petra in rose-hued sandstone two millennia ago. The UNESCO World Heritage site is Jordan's main tourist draw. Christopher A Tuttle of the Council of American Overseas Research said that the platform was not clearly visible from the ground, and only images taken from above revealed the shape. He said only an excavation can reveal its original purpose.

Quizholics

Q1 Who is the flagbearer for India for the upcoming Rio Olympics?

a) Leander Paes b) Abhinav Bindra c) Saina Nehwal

Q2 Which company is all set to buy LinkedIn?

a) Microsoft b) Apple c) Yahoo

Q3 Who is the winner of the Australian Open badminton title?

a) Saina Nehwal b) Jwala Gutta c) Sun Ki

ANSWERS 1. b) Abhinav Bindra 2. a) Microsoft 3. a) Saina Nehwal

'I WANT TO HELP PEOPLE SLEEP'

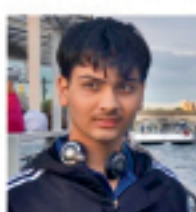

Tech giant Apple Inc has awarded its prestigious WWDC Scholarship-2016 to Anushk Mittal, 17, for his Sleepsle app. In an interview, he talks about his invention and much more

pratigyan.das@timesgroup.com

■ Can you tell us something about the app? Sleepsle, the app, is a universal application to improve sleep efficiency - it works on iOS, watchOS and tvOS platforms. From playing lulling melodies to helping you fall asleep at the right time to waking you up with soothing music, it is a one-stop solution to manage your sleep. Apart from understanding the science behind sleep, the app tells us about sleep cycles, the heart rate, along with calories burned during sleep.

■ Why do you think it will make a difference? Sleepsle aims to change the way we sleep today and improve people's daytime productivity and efficiency. Our mission is to help people know that they are in charge of their sleep pattern and ensure they get sound sleep.

■ What made you develop this app? That's an interesting story! I used to sleep for more than 10 hours during my school vacations, so much so that I was called a sleepy head. However, my fascination with sleep was not restricted to the comfort of my bed. I wanted to delve into the importance of sleep and its significance in our lives. To my surprise, I discovered that around 80 per cent Americans are devoid of sleep which makes them impatient and anxious. This is a global phenomenon. Propelled by my morning sluggishness, and the gravity of the issue, I looked for possible solutions. The next step was to look for platforms to discover sleep tracking and enhancing applications. But I couldn't find any that were dependable. That was all the motivation

ANY TIPS FOR BUDDING ENTREPRENEURS? > Age is not a restriction. If you are passionate about changing the world, you can defy all odds. I was able to develop the app during the hectic year of high school - juggling between college, apps, school and other activities was no mean feat. > Having said that, you must keep learning and adapting to new technologies. I adapted to new techs like watchOS 2, tvOS and CareKit framework. Remember, everyone is a learner in the programming world and the latest tech is often the best to solve challenges in an innovative manner.

I needed to trigger my entrepreneurial mind!

■ Was it difficult for you develop this app? Apple's iWatch gave me the inspiration to develop this app. I contacted sleep researchers around the world; this makes the science used in the app completely genuine.

STUDENT EDITION

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 2016

TELL US A STORY

Have a wacky video or selfies that make the world go nuts? Perhaps, even photos that speak more than just a thousand words? If your answer is yes, our mailbox is waiting to be flooded with videos, images and text. You can send us content on books, music, movies, theatre, art & culture, spirituality (even atheists are welcome), fashion, fitness, beauty, food, travel, social work, sports and technology. There's just one stipulation: content should be original; videos not more than two minutes long. Come on, we're waiting! Bombard us with emails at: times.nie@timesgroup.com

ACTION-REACTION

FEEL STRONGLY ABOUT WHAT'S HAPPENING AROUND, VOICE IT HERE

The recent killing of a gorilla at the Cincinnati Zoo led to much debate and outrage, putting the role of zoos in ensuring safety of endangered species under the scanner. What's your view?

■ It's sad that animals have to suffer for the mistakes of humans. Ideally, endangered animals should be kept away from the public eye, in a safe environment with zero human intervention. Organisations like WWF should step up vigilance and respond to such situations. HARDIK SINGHAL, class XI, Lancer's Convent School, Delhi

■ A zoo is a place where animals are confined for the rest of their lives, never to experience the freedom of the wild again. Therefore, zoos should be sanctuaries, where captive animals can live out their lives with dignity and freedom from bullying crowds. DHANVI SHAH, class VIII, Gopi Birla Memorial School, Mumbai

Q European football's governing body UEFA has threatened to kick Russia and England out of the European Championship finals over fan violence. What should be done to control the mob?

Send us your answers along with your pics by June 15, at tolnie175@gmail.com

■ Zoos are not safe for animals, no matter how humans try to justify their action. If endangered species are kept in zoos for conservation purposes, there should be heavy security for both visitors and animals to prevent such incidents from recurring. KAVERI PRIYA P, class IX, DPS-Nacharam, Hyderabad

■ Zoos provide a safe environment for all kinds of species and save them from extinction. A few untoward incidents cannot make zoos redundant. A better alternative would be to create a safe zone surrounding national parks. Enclosures should have glass and wire meshes and other security props. HARINI M S, class XI, Nagarjuna Vidyaniketan, Bangalore